DO YOU BELIEVE IT IS GOOD BUSINESS TO PAY A RUINOS TAX RATE IN ORDER THAT COUNTY OFFICERS MAY RECEIVE EXCESSIVE SALARIES FROM WHICH, IN TURN, THEY CAN AFFORD TO PUT UP CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS OF LARGE AMOUNT WHICH CAN BE USED BY A CORRUPT POLITICAL MACHINE IN DEBAUCHING VOTERS?

THAT IS THE PRINCIPLE BEHIND THE REPUBLICAN POLICY OF HIGH COUNTY SALARIES IN THIS STATE.

THAT IS THE PRINCIPLE YOU ARE INVITED TO ENDORSE BY VOTING FOR THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES FOR THE LEGISLATURE NEXT TUESDAY.

THE PRINCIPLE, IN ADDITION TO COSTING YOU MONEY, IS CORRUPT. ARE YOU FOR IT, OR AGAINST IT?

IT IS STRICTLY UP TO YOU.

DON'T WASTE YOUR VOTE.

FOR the date of the New Mexican Progressive faction, for congress, has made a vigorous campaign. Mr. Wilson is an able and a very ambitious young man. He is anxious to make the best showing he can, although he has absolutely no hope for election. Mr. Wilson's candidacy is really one of protest against the Republican state machine and is regarded by a majority of the people. We believe he represents such himself. If he is honest with himself, and we believe that he is, he does not expect to be elected.

No Democrats will vote for Mr. Wilson, but it is to be feared that there are many independent voters, men of no fixed party faith, and many Republicans dissatisfied with the conduct of their party under the old machine rule, who will vote for Mr. Ferguson, who will vote for the Progressive candidate. We believe it is feared this is the case, not because it is the case, but because it is the case.

OUR Republican friends in their great task and in their state platform refer with profound respect to the "rain of the best sugar industry" in New Mexico as a result of the Underwood tariff law. They do not like the Progressive candidate. We believe it is feared this is the case, not because it is the case, but because it is the case.

Let me look at its present status: it accomplishes nothing. At Maxwell, in Colfax county, practically the only station at which any vote from Mr. Ferguson, who will be elected, and whose majority is to be made, or ever has been made, should be such as to form the final definite protest of the people of this state against leadership by the men and control by the methods, capable of offering to the work and life of a great political party a man of the caliber of R. C. Hernandez as their candidate.

Mr. Wilson will get very few votes in Bernalillo. But he should not get any, not because he does not deserve the support of those who follow the Progressive leadership, but because that support in this election accomplishes nothing save to strengthen the hands of the old gang of which Democrats, Republicans and Progressives alike are anxious to rid the state.

A vote for Mr. Wilson, therefore, is a vote worse than wasted. It merely lessens the size of the majority for Mr. Ferguson, and is therefore a vote favorable to the gang.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

SINCE no less an authority than the chairman of the Republican county committee of this county has brought forward the fact that fundamental principles are at stake in this election, it becomes interesting to know briefly what those principles are.

The tariff is not one of them. The Republican bosses look on the people as fools, but they do not consider them tools enough to swallow the tariff dogs. What then is the principle at stake, from the Republican standpoint?

Not even State Chairman Ely, who seems to have stated everything there is to state from the Republican side, has stated it.

The people, the bosses to the contrary, are not fools. The people recognize the fundamental principle at stake in this election. They know that it is the principle of popular government, clear government, efficient government, as against government by a few self constituted gang chieftains, extravagant government, is its happiest outcome in most instances since it so often cripples and maims its body victims.

Taxation without representation has been the lot of the people of New Mexico under Republican gang rule, as plainly as ever it was the lot of the men who pulled off the Boston tea party. For years the majority in the legislature has represented a little ring of bosses. If the Republican candidates are elected in a majority Tuesday that same little ring will rule this state. The people will have nothing to say. The country money out providing outrageous salaries for inefficient service will be passed over the governor's veto, and your taxes will take another rise. The rest of the gang program will follow.

And the only chance you have, Mr. Taxpayer, to assert your rights, to speak for what you think should be done, is when you cast your ballot next Tuesday. It is for you to say whether Nestor Montoya and Modesto Ortiz and P. A. Mann shall go to the legislature to represent the private interests they do not even take the pains to deny that they stand for, or whether your own representatives, the men who stand for you and your rights and interests, shall go to Santa Fe.

Talk about fundamental principles of government!

Why the Republican voters of this county were not only not consulted about the nomination of Mann and Modesto and Montoya, they were kept in blind ignorance of who their candidates were until the limitation of the election law forced the bosses to file the three names.

The Republican voters of this county were treated like so many citizens of the republic of Mexico abiding in our midst. Do you suppose men nominated in this way care a hoot what the people want? Is it probable they will worry about what the people want and need? They are there, if elected, to see that the sheriff gets $5,000 a year clear for doing nothing, and other county officers in proportion; to see that road digging is made safe and easy—and respectable!

You have three candidates before you, nominated by the common people in an open convention who stand for your rights and interests and welfare.

Our only chance to get your right which is representation in the state legislature—the one fundamental principle at stake in this election—is to elect George Simeon and William Kieck and Rafael Garcia on Tuesday.

News of his success is in cheering contrast to much of the other news we are constrained to print and read these days.

THEN and NOW

OCTOBER 5, 1914.

One hundred years ago today the world's first steam war vessel, the Demologos, afterwards rechristened the Fulton, in honor of its constructor, was launched from a privately-owned shipyard on the New York bank of the East river. Its construction had been inspired from the war of 1812. Not much longer than

All medical science was altered by the formulation of the germ theory. Progress since has been almost exclusively toward combating the invisible organisms that are constantly at war upon health. Communicable diseases, within the memory of many now living, ceased to be visitations of malignant fate and became tangible, to be dragged under the microscope and watched with antiseptics.

The most recent discovery anteceding the battle losses in Europe.

Today, white steam propels nearly all of the 2,500 or more warships of the world's navies, already new forms of propulsive power are being adopted, such as internal combustion gas engines and various forms of motors. Electric motors already are being experimented with and have been installed on one American naval collier. Probably the horsepower of the Demologos was not as great as that which propels a naval launch that is swaying aboard a modern warship. Against her speed of a little more than six miles an hour there are warships that attain a speed of thirty knots an hour or more. War vessels that could store the Demologos on their decks have made sustained voyages of between seven and eight thousand miles without re-coating, thus disproving the mathematical demonstration of Dionysius Lardner, who sought to prove by figures in the young days of steam that no ship could ever carry enough coal to feed her engines while crossing the Atlantic.

Advertisement.*Democratic County Chairman Directs a Few Remarks to Republican Chairman Gillenwater

W. H. Gillenwater, Chairman, Republic County Central Committee.

Dear Sir: The Democrats of Beaufort county do not believe that your open letter in the Morning Journal of October 27, 1914, needs further answer than to show up some of the glaring errors and mistakes contained therein.

It is, indeed, a new thing for you to assume the cloak of political righteousness and the citizenship of this county which in infantile paralysis spreads itself has been for long conjectured. Dr. Flexner, aided by his associates who in America are keeping up the work largely herald abroad, is close to the facts of the real explanation.

News of his success is in cheering contrast to much of the other news we are constrained to print and read these days.

were assessed $200. This is likewise untrue. Your statement that Mr. Kotter was assessed $200 is untrue. In fact, your whole statement about the subject seems to be either an error or a misstatement.

Your statement that there is to be an outside fund which has not passed through my hands is likewise incorrect. Your knowledge of the manner in which the current practices act could be avoided seems to be in working order.

You are wrong when you state that you were advised by me that the Democrats had refused your offer to furnish the use of money in election. When the Democratic committee was ready and willing to make such a pact if it would be kept in good faith, if discovered the secret meetings one of your deputees was holding away from your headquarters, and we then realized the utter futility of trying to hold you to any such agreement. The past experience of the people have not led them to believe that any such agreements would be kept either in letter or spirit.

Your publication of your campaign funds is the purest nonsense. What happens between now and election is really what counts, and yet you provide a six hundred dollar bill with the air of having finally closed the matter, and could easily know that you will collect every penny you can between now and election day, and this will not show on the statement you file now.

The Democratic receipts and expenditures will be published as required by law and no effort will be made to evade it. It would be in keeping with your new profession of political sanctity if you would publish an account of the fund you used in the recent primary fight against Sheriff Romero.

In fact, considering you whole letter, it strikes the Democrats of this city as the first time Captain Gillenwater ever winced. You realize how hopeless the cases of most of your candidates are, and yet your just reward has been one of gaudiness which persuades us all that you will lose with a smile.

Yours very truly,
JOHN S. SIMMS,
Chairman, Democratic County Central Committee.

What's Doing in the High School

Under the capable direction of Mr. Leavenworth the commercial department of the new high school is a great success. This department was added to the high school's curriculum last year for the first time. The subjects which are offered are stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping, all of which require two years to complete.

There are now enrolled in bookkeeping a total of 38 students—24 in first year bookkeeping and 12 in the second year. This shows an advance in beginning bookkeeping this year of 12 pupils over last year. The enrollment in first year stenography is 22 students; that of the second year is 15.

This shows an approximate growth in this course of 5 students.

There is a class of special students, those taking only stenography and typewriting.

The records show that there is an enrollment of 32 special students. Last year there were only 2 special students.

This shows that the commercial department of the A. H. S. is rapidly commanding the public's attention.

A plan has been perfected for holding tests for speed in typewriting and shorthand. Through the aid of a chart which Mr. Leavenworth has prepared and upon which the records of the speed tests are to be placed, the teacher will be enabled to tell at a glance the exact standing of each and every advanced typewriting pupil.

The beginners will not be ready for these tests for about six months.

Owing to the amount of practice necessary for the demonstrative contests, several of the participants have found it necessary to withdraw.

The senior party was a great success. The great majority of the class was present and the refreshments were the success of the evening.

Several adventurous sophomore tried to "dash in" to the senior party on the mess last night and had a nice time.
